SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1864.

Why they want Union men to Volunteer.

Two secessionists in this city when they heard of the recent reported Democratic victory in Florida, resulting in a large loss of Union men declared their satisfaction and expressed the hope that Government would fill the places of those killed and wounded by calling for volunteers, because nobody would go but Abolitionists, and thus Democrats would be left at home and would be able to control the elections this year "Yes," said one of these northern rebels, "if we can only shame enough Union men in Oregon to fill up the ranks of the Cavalry Regiment, we can carry this State." Such is Democratic patriotism! It has no sympathy with the Nation in its troubles, it seeks to drive into the army those who are true and faithful, and then proposes coolly and with malice aforethought, to vote for such men as will betray the country to traitors, and offer it as a sacrifice to slavery and Democracy—the double headed demon, which has caused the war What punishment can be sufficiently severe, what denunciation too withering for a policy like this? A party, which adopts and practises it ought to be scorned by every honest man it ought to be extinguished forever, or sent to exist and to fester in the dark kingdom of the first great rebel—the patron saint of secession—there, in the fitting and natural home of treason to reap the fruit of its own devices

The Portland Mint Proposition, etc —The Washington correspondent of the Sacramento Union says, in reference to the application for a new Mint at San Francisco, that Mr Chase has consented to approve the plan, and he has suggested a plan which will considerably cheapen the work, and will be very likely to be adopted Oregon needs and must have a branch Mint, a bill giving her one being now before Congress, and it is suggested that the machinery and fixtures of the San Francisco Mint building can be used for stocking and furnishing the Mint (to be put up at Portland, Oregon, and the machinery and fixtures of the New Orleans branch Mint can be taken to San Francisco and used, the wants of that locality being amply met by the material of the New Orleans Mint, which is not wanted where it is, and which would never have been put at New Orleans had it not been for the grasping and over-reaching policy of the Southern leaders, whose motto always was "Everything for the South—nothing for the North!" There is a strong probability that the plan above suggested will be carried out, and so the wants of both Northern and Southern Pacific States will be anticipated and provided for.

The same correspondent says in regard to the California and Oregon Rail Road, that Mr Cole, of California has introduced into the House a bill amendatory of the Pacific Railroad Act, which provides for the issuance by the Government of its bonds to a company which shall build and equip a railroad from the western terminus of the Pacific Railroad, at Sacramento, to the Columbia river, Oregon The terms of the aid asked for are the same as the terms granted to the Pacific Railroad Company—grants of alternate sections of land, bonds at the rate of $16,000 per mile in the valley and $48,000 per mile in the mountains, etc The bill was referred to the Committee on Pacific Railroad

The "Outlaw"—The New York Evening Post says, with reference to the report that the rebels refuse to treat for the exchange of prisoners with General Butler, on the ground that he has been declared an outlaw in a proclamation by Jeff Davis

Such arrogance is disgusting, and we hope our Government will refuse hereafter to negotiate with the fellows, and reply to their infamous pretensions by commissioning the aforesaid "outlaw" to raise a body of volunteers for the express purpose of releasing our prisoners. The young men of the North would rush to his banner as to a crusade, and he would belie his entire history since the war began if he did not conduct them, before the winter closes, into Richmond

An eastern paper says that when Butler was told that if he would take Richmond, it would make him President, he said "the wages were too little for the work; it was like making a sheriff who caught a murderer, suffer capital punishment instead of the prisoner"

American Prospects in Europe.—Robert J Walker, writing to a friend at Washington, says that the revolution in European sentiment, especially in England and France, in favor of the North, is astounding Since the victory of Grant at Chattanooga, and the success of Banks in Texas, the transatlantic rebels have become thoroughly cowed, and unwillingly admit that the Confederacy is in its last gasp. American securities of all kinds are eagerly sought after, while the Confederate loan is gradually disappearing from the market.

Morgan's Escape Explained!—There have been a great many astute speculations respecting the hole through which John Morgan escaped from the Ohio Penitentiary Prentice says that the Message of Gov Tod puts an end to the vexed question. His Excellency announces that Morgan escaped through a misunderstanding? This is official, and so of course correct.

North Carolina Sentiments —The Raleigh Standard grows more and more bold in its denunciations of the tyranny of the rebel dynasty It bitterly opposed the new conscription which is deemed to be nothing more or less than a scheme to make Davis an absolute dictator, and calls upon the people to resist, before it is too late the base designs of their unprincipled rulers We quote the closing of its appeal and it shows how terrible has been the deception and how overwhelming the ruin existing in the rebellious States Surely the vengeance of the Almighty is swift and awful in its punishment of treason

Trust them no longer Remember fair promises The dwellers in the garden of Eden when they listened to the tempting promises of Satan, were not worse deceived and ruined than were the people of the fair, happy and blooming South when they listened to the fair promises of those arch deceivers, Yancey, Wise & Co

A heretofore contented, prosperous and happy people were told by them that we must withdraw all connection from our Northern taskmasters who were making us pay our dollar and fifty cents for shoes ten cents per yard for shirting, two dollars per sack for salt ten cents per pound for sugar the same for coffee etc And these same reckless men, who are now for putting all into the army (except themselves and a few favorites) then told us that secession would be peaceable and that there would be no war; that we were to have a nation of our own, free from extortioners—a perfect paradise, with the tree of life—the cotton plant—in our midst, before which all nations were to bow down and worship, and from which rivers of free trade were to flow into the ends of the earth, on the bosom of which the rich merchandise from every clime was to be freighted and poured down in our laps free of taxation How have they deceived us! The blood of hundreds of thousands of our poor children smoking from the many battle fields and the cries of starving women and children tell the tale Will our people longer be deceived by these false prophets and arch deceivers? Or will they not command the peace and staunch these rivers of blood?

Puget Sound Agricultural Co.—The U S Senate has confirmed a treaty by which a final adjustment is to be made of the claim of the Puget Sound Ag l Co upon the United States This company, composed of members of the Hudson Bay Company, has claimed certain possessory rights upon American soil, and, after the occupation of the soil by settlers, the company set up a claim for damages amounting to about $2,000,000, but which has been reduced now to $500,000 By the treaty just confirmed, but not yet ratified, it is provided that a Commissioner shall be appointed by the Government of Great Britain, and a similar one shall be appointed by the United States, who shall appraise the damages done the Puget Sound Company, and if they cannot agree upon an appraisal the whole matter shall be referred to the King of Italy as a final arbitrator

Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation —A Washington correspondent of an eastern paper says that during the readings of the President's annual message, on the opening of the present Congress, the silence in the hall was profound, being broken only by an irrepressible burst of applause at these memorable words:

"While I am in my present position I shall not attempt to retract or modify the emancipation proclamation, nor shall I return to slavery any person who is free by the terms of that proclamation, or by any of the acts of Congress."

These are noble words, and though no one should have ever believed that there was any danger that the President would retract any part of that document, the proclamation of emancipation, all honest men feel relieved to have once more an affirmation of the President's firm adherence to his former proclamation of liberty

The Port Angelos Controversy —The contest between the Port Angelos and Port Townsend parties grows interesting Your readers have been told that Cole, the Washington Territory Delegate, has introduced a bill to change the port of entry for the Puget Sound District, from Port Angelos, where it was fixed by an Act of Congress, procured by Victor Smith, to Port Townsend A newspaper controversy has sprung up between Cole and Smith, and the latter is preparing an elaborate pamphlet upon the subject, intending to influence the action of Congress, probably Proof sheets of this document have been put in circulation, and from them it appears that Smith has collected a large amount of evidence bearing on the question of the value of the port of Angelos, showing, by the testimony of divers and sundry officials, including General McClellan, that Port Angelos has a fine harbor and a desirable roadstead Smith is severe on Cole whom he calls a Copperhead, and he makes a patriotic rhapsody over the "Indian spirit" of Delegate Cole, who could give a "gloating chuckle" over the destruction of Port Angelos The whole affair is very like a big tempest in a small teapot —Wash. Cor. Sac Union.

U S Grant —In a recent trip over the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, in company with Major General W T Sherman, that gentleman, who is a warm admirer of General Grant, related a circumstance as to how he obtained the initials "U S," which we do not recollect having seen in print. He stated that General Grant's baptismal name was Hiram Ulysses, and he bore that name till he was appointed a cadet at West Point The member of Congress who nominated him somehow got his name mixed up with that of his brother, and he was appointed as Ulysses Sydney, and, that name once on the records at the military academy, could not be changed He was baptized into the military school as U S Grant, and he has ever since borne that name

A Supreme Court Suit —In California, Dr Calderwood has begun an action against E Norton W W Cope and E B Crocker late judges of the Supreme Court for $8,400 damages The complaint charges that in December, 1863, the Supreme Court rendered a decision sustaining the judgment given by the Twelfth Court in the case of Calderwood against Lloyd Tevis and others to quiet land title The decision was adverse to Calderwood, and he avers that the Judges wickedly secretly, maliciously and corruptly misstated facts of record for the purpose of depriving him of his land Calderwood is a subject of Great Britain The suit is in the United States Circuit Court

The Union is a magnificent watch One side of it used to have a crystal, in the shape of slavery but that dropped out and is smashed, and we are now going to have a grand new golden casket of a hunting case The wheels are being set here and there, and by and by we shall be keeping time (a little fast perhaps) as well as ever. And what is more, we shall ring out the hours to the world, Month after month, day after day, hour after hour fresh news comes in to keep our spirits up And those hours, and days, and months will work up into the Everlasting year through which the Union shall live forever

The Sooner the Better —A refugee of note from Richmond is said to predict, that when things reach their last crisis—in other words, the rebels find that "last ditch" in which they are all going to die, Jeff Davis will cut his throat! That is a bad thing for a man to do, to be sure, but it is so much better than anything Jeff has done of late, that we trust no one will stay his hand when he undertakes it Suicide is a better fate than the arch traitor merits, but if he chooses to operate in that way, we don't know how we can prevent him

Hudson Bay Company —It is said the Hudson Bay Company have changed their exclusive policy which has so long bound up the vast and fertile region under their charter, and have thrown open 100,000,000 acres of fertile land to settlement

Letter from Corvallis.

Corvallis, Feb 29th, 1864

Mr Editor —The Rev T H Pearne addressed the citizens of this place on the evening of the 25th—not on politics, but the "Greatness of the American nation," its people, its armies its cause, the Sanitary Commission, &c Such a theme could not fail to interest any audience A collection was taken up for the benefit of the Sanitary Fund amounting to $107. The audience was comparatively small as no notice had been given of Mr Pearne's purpose to address the people here

While I am writing it might be of interest to the readers of your valuable paper to learn somewhat of the movements of the enemy what is doing here I presume corresponds with other moves upon the political chess board of this State

To counteract and thwart the Union movement in this county the Democrats have been very much exercised for a week or more, their labors culminating on Saturday last, in the erection of a pole, four inches at the base thirty feet high, and looks very much like an inverted snake—his head in the ground and his tail reared aloft flaunting what resemble an American ensign and might deceive some but for the bird that is emblazoned upon the blue ground, it is not the bird of the air—the American Eagle—but a buzzard, and badly scared at that, a fit representative to float over the place where Copperheads love to congregate This pole is placed in front of a room having a very dilapidated appearance with but few panes of glass in the windows dirty—having remained in the undisturbed possession of rats, occasionally affording shelter from the pelting storms for the horse the ox, and the native Siwash—but it was the best they could get, and the only one eligibly situated—in front of the Hall of the Union League—where the crowd assemble

But a hall, benches also a pole with a buzzard perched upon it—all these effect but little without an audience, and some one to instruct them, who shall he be? Their young Achilles had told them all he knew, they had heard his speech so often that the boys could repeat it—and besides this while his speech was good for them his talk on the street leaned towards this country, he is too honest, his instincts are generous, but his scaly friends have charmed him Who could they get—they dragged their net, and the first haul, as they thought, brought up our Prosecuting Attorney—the note was sounded—their room was swept and garnished by a few of the faithful—lights were obtained, all things being ready—the curious began to stand around to see who was going in, when there swelled up on the air the loud peal of the court house bell, astonishment seized them—enquiry made as to its meaning, they soon learned that A J Thayer, Esq, was going to address the people at the Court House—on his own hook—they were not prepared for this—he was their speaker, the people wanted to hear Thayer—for his anomalous position required an explanation—having refused to join the Union cause, he as peremptorily refused to enter the threshold of the copperhead den like the mountain of Mahomet, when commanded to come, refused, —he went to it—Thayer would do nothing for them, they blowed out their lights, left the buzzard upon its roost in quiet—and marched over to hear the speaker at the Court House

Now for the speech of A J Thayer The space I have already taken up forbids me to enter into detail, but suffice it to say that his whole speech was a tirade against the Administration and its policy, an unmitigated abuse of the Douglas Democracy for having left him, and for advocating the cause of freedom—every act of the people tending to perpetuate the unity of these United States, and crushing the rebellion, and punishing traitors was denounced by him—he declared he would not support any man brought out by the Democratic party—neither would he support or endorse the Union candidate. Where does he stand—whose friend is he?

"Poor wanderer of a stormy day
From post to post he's driven,

a warning and a pitiful monument of the undecided man, he can't serve two masters look at him—surrounded as he and his class are, by events that involve the destiny of his country—by principles upon the maintenance of which the happiness and elevation of the human race depend—by appeals that should touch every chord of humanity yet he stands aloof—and would dance and make merry over the misfortunes of his country, and the blood and treasure sacrificed in her defence Shame and confusion mantle the cheek of the recreant, who would raise his hand or his voice in opposition to his country, when her institutions are assailed, or her unity menaced; she is in need of her friends, she calls to them to come to her rescue, as to her foes, let them stand from under her frown, for the day is coming when their names will be a reproach and a hissing—handed down to our children's children to be scorned and derided Union

P S We were favored last evening with another visit from Rev. T. H Pearne, on his return from Eugene City. By request he addressed the Corvallis Union League, at their Hall, after which a contribution was taken up, in aid of the Sanitary cause, which amounted to $97 in legal tenders and $9 in coin—making a total on the two evenings of $105 in legal tenders and $53 12 in coin—not bad this, coming as it does, from amidst the hissing of copperheads. Union.

An Incredible Story —The Buffalo Express says Ezra Cornell, of Ithaca, having conceived the idea that the ladies of the Hospital Aid Society of that village could make better progress in their noble work of sewing for the benefit of the soldiers if they would talk less accordingly offered to contribute $50 to the Society if twelve ladies could be found who would sew all day without speaking The task was entered upon by fifteen self-sacrificing women of that village, and fourteen actually accomplished this very difficult feat by self-denial, although tempted in various ways by a large number of visitors and interlopers One of the number failed in the undertaking, having been tempted into a slip of the tongue.

A Bad Predicament—The Richmond Dispatch confesses that the South is reduced to the following interesting situation

"If the people are fed, the army must suffer; if the army is fed, the people will starve, and if the people starve what's the use of the army?"

Too Much Reward —In a tract distributed by the Mormon preachers the following question and answer occurs "What shall be the reward of those who have forsaken their wives for righteousness sake? A hundred fold of wives here, and wives everlasting hereafter!"

Sanitary Fund Receipts —From citizens of Eugene City forwarded by Rev T H Pearne $72 in coin, $30 in currency

From citizens of Corvallis by Mr Pearne, $100 in currency

From citizens of Bethel Polk county by Dr W [illegible] Warriner $23 60 in coin $12 in currency, and a soldier's discharge for ninety days service in the Indian war.

Bulletin Correspondence

Our friend, who writes letters from Portland, tells some Oregon stories which will be new to some of our readers

WHISKY AND SALERATUS

Most persons who have known much of our popular frontier wars, are aware of the ingenious devices often resorted to make contraband articles and doubtful purchases appear regular and fair in the vouchers and accounts Even our famous Indian wars of 1855 6 was not wholly exempt from these "tricks of the trade." For instance towards the close of this affair an old Oregonian who was ignorant of the mysteries of Red Tape careless of the learned distinction between the use of capital and small letters and the inventor of a true system of orthography all his own was appointed Commissary for the coast counties of Coos and Curry Proud of his position, and panting for distinction he repaired to his domain and commenced signing his name to vouchers and requisitions as Commissary of the Coast At Scottsburg he employed a man, an honest master packer named Gard Chism, to pack the family kitchen and supplies generally Among other things notified Gard was directed to purchase 10 gallons of good whisky for the use of the Commissary Months afterwards when the Commissary had laid down the burdens of office and retired to his sabine fields the clerks were still engaged in the Commissary General's office at Salem writing up the returns and putting the best face on the affair possible before presenting the little bill to Uncle Samuel One day they came across the whisky voucher from the Coast district After due consultation they came to the conclusion that the Government would not pay the old Commissary's whisky bill, as such and that therefore the name of the article must be changed Accordingly the voucher was returned to Gard with directions to furnish a new one in which the unlawful whisky should be called saleratus. Now Gard was as clever a fellow as ever packed a mule or lashed a pack, would do anything in reason to accommodate his friends or the public authorities but like George Washington who had a father and scorned to lie Upon the receipt of the voucher, Gard shifted his quid upon the other side of his jaw, and pondered with himself what to do Which shall it be—whisky or saleratus? At last he concluded to compromise, and returned a new voucher to the office, which omitting the formal parts read thus—"United States Dr to B for 10 gallons of whisky, to be called saleratus"

A STRAW BILL

While I am about it I may as well bring to light another case of calling whisky saleratus This one is much nearer the present time than the former, and must have been consummated by the aid of some one less scrupulous than "Honest Gard Chism" During the winter of 1861—62, the Oregon Cavalry were recruited in this country. A certain W. J S who some way became a doctor of medicine in Indiana and who had long tried with indifferent success, to get along in Oregon by pills and politics, got a temporary employment to physic and inspect recruits at a camp near his place Being around the Red Ink office he managed to get some vouchers from the Volunteer Quartermaster for something Not long since the vouchers turned up missing and the doctor wrote a letter to obtain others in their stead Here is a paragraph of the letter which I have reason to know is in the words, spelling and punctuation following. "The amount of thou vouchers war thirty seven dollars and fifty cents and for straw the straw I never dilevr but I suppose they war given for a bill I had a ganst a private while in the service by Order of Capt" What was the bill against a private," I am uninformed, nor do I know how far it would be improper to call it straw To shysters, there is such a thing known as "straw bail, and this may have been only a straw bill But to call the "bill" straw, good natural straw fit for a cavalry horse, and charge it to the Government, is a new way of collecting old debts.

CATTLE FOR A CONVENTION

Mr Huntington our Superintendent of Indian Affairs, goes down to San Francisco on the steamer, and by way of favorable introduction, I must send along a little story about him As I wrote you, the Union Convention is to come off in March at Albany and Mr Huntington being one of the Central Committee, director of the Oregon Statesman, and Superintendent of Indian Affairs, is supposed to take an interest in the make up of the Convention Not long since H, left Salem and spent some time on his old stamping ground, the Umpqua valley, pretending or intending, as the case may be, to buy cattle. During H's absence his plain spoken friend, Smith K—— came to Salem from the Umpqua, and straightway some one, who suspected H of being delegate hunting asked what he was doing "Buying cattle sir, buying cattle!" "What does he want with cattle?" "Why," says Smith K—— "he is going to drive them to the Albany Convention"

The Teachings of Experience—If the people of the South, after this war is over, shall have learned nothing else, they will certainly have found out that the people of the North, whom they have been accustomed to call "Yankees," are a determined race of people, and when they make up their mind to a thing, are pretty sure to accomplish it They will have a pretty accurate consciousness of the fact that one of the "Chivalry has reason to be proud if he finds himself equal to a single "Yankee" They will know at last that a disposition to use the pistol or bowie-knife with alacrity, constitutes no very positive evidence of courage, in fact, that obedience to the law and a desire to maintain a peaceful and decorous life, are, as a general rule, evidence of a genuine self respect which is the very source of true courage. They will have sufficient proof that forbearance is usually the opposite of cowardice, and that it is a great deal easier to frighten a noisy ruffian than the quiet and orderly, yet determined citizen. The war will beat these ideas into them with so much vigor and thoroughness that they will never forget them When they again rally round the old flag, as they will be glad to do, they will never dream of meddling with "live Yankees.

Our Trade —A passenger by the Brother Jonathan informs us that the bark Iwanona with salt for Richards & McCraken, of this city, put into San Francisco in distress, was repaired, and sailed on the 17th of December After having been given up as lost, she again suddenly appeared in San Francisco on the 18th of February, and reported six weeks off the Columbia Bar, trying to get in During that time, however, all the packets in the Oregon trade had passed in and out, besides the steamers, and never got a sight of her A new Captain was put on board, and she sailed again about the 20th of February The bark Industry laid on for freight on the 15th, and on the 20th refused to take any more She sailed on the 23d The Brother Jonathan began loading on the 25th, and such a rush to get freight on board a steamer was never before witnessed in San Francisco A string of trucks and drays a half mile long, were passing to the wharf almost constantly At 10 o'clock the next day freight was refused Of course all that was for shipment could not come Draymen were paid as high as $15 a load, and often $4, $5, $6 and $8 were paid, by parties anxious to get ahead with their freights Tickets for the cabin were all sold a week before she was ready to receive freight The steamer Panama advertised to sail to day for Portland only It was understood in San Francisco that steamers would leave weekly hereafter, coming direct to Portland all the time The John L Stephens will be ready for the trade sometime this month The bark Almalia was nearly ready for sea Thus it can be seen at a glance that our trade is vastly on the increase

The Storm of night before last raised several side walks, and swamped several buildings in the city Main street is in a wretched condition from the flowing of a stream through the centre of it, which has washed out quite a gully The inhabitants on the west side of First street, between Main and Madison, were struggling against the inroads of the element from three o'clock in the morning until late in the day yesterday We venture to assert that not of them are in favor of having a steam fire engine, a new engine house, a public square graded, or any like improvement, to the expense of the streets

Lightning Manufactory —Superintendent Haines has just completed a very strong battery, for magnetic purposes at the telegraph office in this city It is constructed on the principle of Gr[illegible] battery with a row of glass cups, [illegible] a pauric acid and water, inside of [illegible] coated with quicksilver, and shape[illegible] extend from one to the other are [illegible] have pendants of platina rea[illegible] tric acid, confined in small porus [illegible] When the electricity is [illegible] off on the wires

Shocked —Ore[illegible] San Francisco on the morning of [illegible] considerably "shocked" [illegible] tacked by a kind of a [illegible] very rolling kind of a shak[illegible] some kept secret, until the [illegible] speaking of an earthquake that occurred in that city, up to which time they had supposed it was owing to their business keeping them up late the night before, and having passed several saloons where whisky was sold, thought they might have inhaled some of the fumes, and imagined they were rolling in their beds

Mr Pearne's Address at the Methodist Church was listened to with deep interest by a large and intelligent audience The speaker's bold and eloquent denunciations of treason and of slavery as its source and nurse, were warmly applauded, and his earnest and touching appeal in behalf of the Sanitary Commission as the sublime and most wonderful operation of humanity was responded to by a contribution of $102 in coin and $41 in currency

The First Brick —Mr R R Thompson yesterday showed us the first brick from the Owyhee mines It was assayed from rock of one of the lodes in which Mr T is interested, and is worth about ten dollars, weighing one ounce As we held it in our hand we remembered that "tall oaks from little acorns grow," and that this was but the forerunner of an immense number of bricks, of the same quality of material, but several times larger.

Map of Owyhee —The Owyhee, and its lodges, are plainly marked out in a map of this new region, on exhibition at the O S N Company's office in this city, giving, also, the localities now being worked, with the depth of shafts and drifts The company owning this sketch have already expended over $6,000 for work upon their lodes, and their present working amounts to $50 per day They soon expect rich returns

Lanterns —These dark nights a lantern is a very acceptable companion to have on the streets We know from experience they are a necessary article, and Crandall & Towle, 80 First street, near Washington, have the finest kind, for burning coal oil and for brilliancy See advertisement

Stock —The steamer Julia continues her trips to the Cascades every day, and takes a full load of stock as often as she goes During the past five days over 1,200 head of sheep, hogs, cattle and horses, have been carried by her

For the Upper Country —The steamer Wilson G Hunt has been loaded to her utmost for the past six trips with passengers and freight for the mining regions, carrying on the average about 80 tons daily, and nearly 800 passengers for the week

We are informed by a passenger who went to California on the last trip of the steamer Pacific, that in addition to the treasure reported by her, he knew of $50,000 and over, in the hands of one party, and no doubt there were thousands of dollars besides

Theatre —The new company continue to draw good houses, and the audiences invariably go away satisfied "Damon and Pythias" is the leading play for this evening

The steamship is advertised to leave for San Francisco via Victoria, this afternoon at four o'clock

Thanks —J S McCormick has our thanks for late papers

MARKET REPORT AND REVIEW.

FRIDAY, March 4th—12 M.

Our Review to-day will comprise about the liveliest week of the season. We have to report the arrival of the steamship Brother Jonathan and the bark Helen W. Almy, each with large assorted cargoes embracing Dry Goods, Groceries, Rubber goods and necessary articles for mining purposes.

Our merchants are having a lively trade with the interior, in all directions.

We have but few transactions to announce for the week, in hogs, cattle and sheep, but unlimited numbers are going up the country, mine-wards.

Hay is arriving in considerable lots, but prices are unsettled; 70 tons are reported at $17 50, per ton several other lots have sold at prices ranging from $13 to $14, a small lot per steamer Senator sold at $15.

With slight alterations our Wholesale Prices Current remain as last week.

Wounded.

The following splendid lyric was written by Rev. William E. Miller of the Methodist Protestant Church, and residing at Tompkin's Cove, New York. It has the ring both of Tennyson and Whittier. We find it in the columns of the Western Methodist Protestant.

Let me lie down,
Just here in the shade of this cannon-torn tree,
Here, low on the trampled grass, where I may see
The surge of the combat; and where I may hear
The glad cry of victory, cheer upon cheer:
Let me lie down.

Oh, it was grand!
Like the tempest we charged, in the triumph to share;
The Tempest—its fury and thunder were there;
On, on, o'er intrenchments, o'er living and dead,
With the foe under foot and our flag overhead;
Oh, it was grand!

Weary and faint,
Prone on the soldier's couch, ah! how can I rest
With this shot-shattered head and sabre-pierced breast?
Comrades, at roll-call, when I shall be sought,
Say I fought till I fell, and fell where I fought,
Wounded and faint.

Oh, that last charge!
Right through the dread host tore shrapnel and shell,
Through without falt'ring—clear through with a yell,
Right in their midst, in the turmoil and gloom,
Like heroes we dashed at the mandate of doom!
Oh, that last charge!

It was duty!
Some things are worthless, and some others so good
That nations who buy them pay only in blood;
For Freedom and Union each man owes his part,
And here I pay my share all warm from my heart:
It is duty!

Dying at last!
My mother, dear mother, with meek, tearful eye,
Farewell! and God bless you, forever and aye!
Oh that I now lay on your pillowing breast,
To breathe my last sigh on the bosom first prest;
Dying at last!

I am no saint,
But, boys, say a prayer. There's one that begins:
"Our Father," and then says, "Forgive us our sins;"
Don't forget that part; say that strongly, and then
I'll try to repeat it, and you'll say Amen!
Ah, I'm no saint!

Hark! there's a shout!
Raise me up, comrades! We have conquered, I know!
Up, up on my feet, with my face to the foe!
Ah, there's the Flag, with its Star Spangles bright,
The promise of Glory, the symbol of Right!
Well may they shout!

I'm mustered out!
O, God of our Fathers, our freedom prolong;
And tread down rebellion, oppression and wrong!
O, land of earth's hope, on thy blood-reddened sod
I die for the Nation, the Union, and God!
I'm mustered out!

An Attempt to Disorganize the House.

The recent attempt to disorganize, instead of organizing the House of Representatives, through the instrumentality of the late Clerk, has brought vividly to mind the occasion of a precedent, which occurred twenty-four years ago, and which was then so happily quelled by the opportune interposition of John Quincy Adams. The account of that transaction is well worth reading again by those old enough to remember the circumstances, but it will have a thrilling interest for those who read it now for the first time:

The organization of the House had been prevented for four days by the action of the Clerk in refusing to call the New Jersey delegation on the vote for Speaker. He also refused to entertain any motions for the purpose of extricating the House for this dead lock. There was a double delegation from New Jersey, the Whig members holding the certificate of the Governor, in due form, and the Democratic claimants averring that they had proof that they were legally elected. The members seemed to know of no extrication, and three days were spent in disorder, violent debate and threatening demonstrations.

Ex-President John Quincy Adams was then a member of the House. He took no part in the three days' scene of confusion, and seemed engaged in writing. On the fourth day, when the repetition of the previous role begun by the Clerk's calling the roll again and again refusing to call the New Jersey members, Mr. Adams rose, and instantly fixed the attention of the disorderly multitude. "I rise" said he, to interrupt the Clerk.

"It was not my intention, gentlemen, to take any part in these extraordinary proceedings. I had hoped that the House would succeed in organizing itself, that a speaker and Clerk would be elected, and that the ordinary business of legislation would be progressed in. This is not the time or place to discuss the merits of the conflicting claimants for seats from New Jersey—that subject belongs to the House of Representatives, which, by the Constitution, is made the ultimate arbiter of the qualifications of its members. But what a spectacle do we here present! We degrade and disgrace ourselves; we degrade and disgrace our constituents and the country.

"We cannot organize; and why? Because the clerk of this House, the mere Clerk, whom we create, whom we employ and whose existence depends upon our will, usurps the throne and sets us, the Representatives, the vicegerents of the whole American people, at defiance, and holds us in contempt! And what is this Clerk of yours? Is he to control the destinies of sixteen millions of freemen? Is he to suspend by his negative the functions of the Government, and put an end to this Congress? He refuses to call the roll. It is in your power to compel him to call it, if he will not do it voluntarily."

(Here he was interrupted by a member, who was authorized to say that compulsion could not reach the Clerk, who had avowed he would resign, rather than call the State of New Jersey.)

"Well sir, then let him resign, and we may possibly discover some way by which we can get along without the aid of his all powerful talent, learning and genius. If we cannot organize in any other way—if this Clerk of yours will not consent to our discharging the trusts confided to us by our constituents, then let us imitate the example of the Virginia House of Burgesses, which, when the Colonial Governor, Dinwiddie, ordered it to disperse, refused to obey the imperious and insulting mandate, and, like men—"

Here the audience, electrified by the speech of "the Old Man Eloquent," could no longer repress their feelings, and it broke out in an outburst of cheers. By a touch of the magic of this eloquence, they saw the darkness of anarchy disappear. Having brought the assembly to its senses and inspired it with a perception of its dignity and hazardous position, submitted a motion requiring the Clerk to call the roll.

This and similar motions had already been made by other members, but the Clerk had declined to entertain them. Accordingly a burst of voices demanded of Mr. Adams—"How shall the question be put?" Raising his voice above the tumult, Mr. Adams replied—"I intend to put the question myself!" That was the word of the master mind, that brought order out of chaos. As soon as the irrepressible enthusiasm had abated, Mr. Richard Barnwell Rhett, of South Carolina, sprang upon a desk, waved his hand, and exclaimed:

"I move that the Hon. John Quincy Adams, of Massachusetts, take the chair of the Speaker of this House, and officiate as presiding officer till the House be organized by the election of its constitutional officers."

Mr. Rhett put the motion, but before he could complete it, an universal thundering acclaim responded. Mr. Adams was conducted to the Chair by Rhett and Lewis Williams of North Carolina. It was a proud triumph for the old age of this purest and most vilified of Presidents since Washington. His voice had hushed the tempest of human passion, and stilled the storm of tumultuous disorder. At his word the sea of popular turbulence which threatened the Ship of State immediately became calm!

Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, said:

"Sir, I regard it as the proudest hour of your life, and if, when you shall be gathered to your fathers, I were asked to select the words which, in my judgment, are best calculated to give the character of the man, I would inscribe upon your tomb this sentence: 'I will put the question myself.'"

THE RIDE OF A WOUNDED BRIGADE.—Mr. B. F. Taylor continues in the Chicago Journal his admirable sketches of life in the camp and field. In a recent letter from the Army of the Cumberland he gives the following picture of a night's ride of the wounded brigade, after the battle of Chickamauga:

"They were loaded upon the train; two platform cars were paved with them, forty on a car. Seven boxes were so packed you could not set your foot down among them as they lay. The roofs of the cars were tiled with them, and away we pounded, all day, all night, into the next morning, and then Nashville. Half of the boys had not a shred of a blanket, and it rained steadily, pitilessly. What do you think of platform cars for a triumphal procession wherein to bear wounded heroes to the tune of "The Soldier's return from the war?" But the stores of the Sanitary Commission and the gifts of such ladies as are now, I believe, making your city a Bethel—a place of angels—kept the boys' hearts up through all those weary, drizzling hours.

It is midnight, and the attendants are going through the train with coffee, graced with milk and sugar—think of that—two fresh, white, crisp crackers apiece, and a little taste of fruit. Did your hands prepare it, dear lady? I hope so, for the little balance in your favor set down in the ledger of God.

"Here they come with a canteen: will you go with them? climb through that window into a car as black as the Hole of Calcutta. But mind where you step: the floor is one layer deep with wounded soldiers. As you swing the lantern around, bandages show white and ghastly everywhere; bandages, bandages, and now and then a rusty spot of blood. What worn out, faded faces look up at you? They rouse like wounded creatures hunted down to their lairs as you come. The tin cups extended in all sorts of hands but plump, strong ones, tinkle all around about you. You are fairly girdled with a tin-cup horizon. How the dull, pale faces brighten as those cups are filled! On we go, out at one window, in at another, stepping gingerly among mangled limbs. We reach the platform cars, creaking with their drenched, chilled, bruised burdens, and I must tell you—it's a shame though—that one poor fellow among them lay with a tattered blanket pinned around him; he was literally sans culote. "How is this?" I said, "Haven't got my descriptive list—that's what's the matter," was the reply. Double allowance all around to the occupants of the platforms, and we retrace our steps to the rear of the train. You should have heard the ghost of a cheer that fluttered like a feeble bird, as we went back. It was the most touching vote of thanks ever offered; there was a little flash up of talk for a minute, and all subsided into silence and darkness again. Wearily wore the hours and heavily hammered the train. At intervals the guards traversed the roof of the cars, and pulled in the worn out boys that had jarred down to the edges—pulled them in toward the middle of the cars without waking them! Occasionally one slips over the eaves, I am told, and is miserably crushed. What a homeward is all this to set a tune to!

By some error in apportionment there was not quite coffee enough for all on deck, and two slips of boys on the roof of the car where I occupied a corner were left without a drop. Whenever we stopped, and that was two hours here and three hours there, waiting for this and for that—there was no hurry, you know—and the side door was slided back in its groove, I saw two hungry faces, stretched down over the car's edge, and heard two feeble voices crying: "We've had nothing up here since yesterday noon, we two—there are only us two boys—please give us something. Haven't you any hard tack?" I heard that pitiful appeal to the officers in charge, and saw those faces till they haunted me, and to-day I remember those plaintive tones as if I were hearing a dirge. I felt in my pockets and haversacks for a cracker, but found nothing. I really hated myself for having eaten my dinner and not saved it for them. A further search was rewarded with six crackers from the Chicago Mechanical Bakery, and watching my chance when Pete's back was turned—the cook, and a smutty autocrat was Pete in his way—I took a sly dip with a basin in the coffee boiler.

As the car gave a lurch in the right direction, I called from the window, "Boys!" I heard them crawling to the edge, handed up the midnight supper, "Bully for you," they said, and I saw them no more. When the train reached Nashville, and I clambered down to solid ground again, I looked up at the roof; it was bare.—God grant the boys are with their mothers to-night. And how do you like the ride of the Wounded Brigade?"

ARDENT GRIEF.—The Territorial Enterprise is responsible for the following yarn: "In the mountains of California were two sweethearts, Betsy and Peter. One day Betsy's mother died, and the respectful neighbors followed in solemn procession to the burial. As the coffin was lowered into the grave, overcome by grief, Betsy swooned. Pete sprang forward and supported the fainting maiden, endeavoring to revive her by such plaintive entreaties as "Betsy, speak to your own dear Peter!" Vain the attempt! Gazing on the pale lids which lay on the sweet eyes as lifeless as if they had closed forever, he heaved a deep sigh, and turning to the bystanders said in a tone of tenderest anguish, "I'll bet any man four bits she never speaks again!"

Sheriff's Sale.

WHEREAS an order of sale has been placed in my hands issued under the seal of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Multnomah County, commanding me to make sale of the following described real estate, to-wit: Land claim No. 60, as described on the record in the Land Office at Oregon City, being the east half of the south-east quarter of Section 25 in Township One North, Range One East, and containing 80 21-100 acres; and also the tract of land known as claim No. 47 on said record, commencing at the intersection of the Section line of said Section 25, which runs east and west and bounds the south-east quarter of said Section on the north, with the Township line, thence from said point of intersection east along the north line of the south-west quarter of Section 30, in Township One North, Range Two East, 31.95 chains to a point on said north line, thence south 25 chains to a point designated by a stake, thence at a right angle bearing west 32 chains to a point designated by a stake on the Township line, thence north along said Township line 25 chains to the north-west corner of the south-west quarter of said Section 30 to the place of beginning, with the improvements thereon, lying in Multnomah County, Oregon.

"Notice is given that I shall sell the above described land, &c., at public auction in front of the Court-House door on Saturday, the 2d day of April, 1864, pursuant to a decree of foreclosure of a mortgage on said premises, rendered by said Court on the 8th day of February, 1864, in favor of Lewis M. Starr against John Quinn, for the sum of three thousand eight hundred and forty-four dollars judgment, with interest, costs, disbursements and expenses of sale.

Sale to commence at 11½ A. M.

PICTURES ARE THE BEST IN OREGON

HELMBOLD'S
Genuine Preparation.

"HIGHLY CONCENTRATE

Compound Fluid

EXTRACT BUCHU,

A POSITIVE AND SPECIFIC REMEDY

FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL

AND

DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.

This Medicine increases the power of DIGESTION and excites the ABSORBENTS into healthy action, by which the WATERY or CALCEROUS depositions, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as PAIN and INFLAMMATION, and is good for MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse,

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Indisposition to Exertion,	Loss of Power,
Loss of Memory,	Difficulty of Breathing,
Weak Nerves,	Trembling,
Horror of Disease,	Wakefulness,
Dimness of Vision,	Pain in the Back,
Universal Lassitude of the	Muscular System,
Hot Hands,	Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin,	Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms if allowed to go on which this medicine invariably removes, soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases,"

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION,"

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS

THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS,

And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion that

THE CONSTITUTION,

once affected by Organic Weakness,

Requires the Aid of Medicine,

to strengthen and invigorate the system, which invariably does.

A Trial will Convince the most Skeptical.

FEMALES! FEMALES!! FEMALES!!

OLD OR YOUNG,

Single, Married or contemplating Marriage

IN MANY AFFECTIONS PECULIAR TO FEMALES, the Extract of Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous state of the Uterus, Leucorrhea or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the Sex, whether arising from Indiscretion, Habits of Dissipation, or in the DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE!

See symptoms above.

No Family should be without it.

TAKE NO MORE BALSAM, MERCURY, OR UNPLEASANT MEDICINE FOR UNPLEASANT AND DANGEROUS DISEASES.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

AND

HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

CURES SECRET DISEASES

In all their Stages; At Little Expense;
Little or no Change in Diet; No Inconvenience,
AND NO EXPOSURE.

It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby Removing Obstructions, Preventing and curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in the class of Diseases, and expelling all Poisonous, diseased and worn out matter.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS

Who have been the victims of Quacks

and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu

For all Affections and Diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating, and

NO MATTER OF HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these Organs require the aid of a Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

IS THE GREAT DIURETIC,

And it is certain to have the desired effect in Diseases for which it is recommended.

Evidence

of the most Responsible and reliable character will accompany the medicines.

Certificates of Cures

From Eight to Twenty Years standing, with names known to science and fame.

"PHYSICIANS," PLEASE "NOTICE."

We make no "secret" of "Ingredients." HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is composed of Buchu, Cubebs, Juniper Berries, selected with great care by a competent Druggist. Prepared in vacuo, by H. T. HELMBOLD, Practical and Analytical Chemist, and Sole Manufacturer of Helmbold's Genuine Preparations.

AFFIDAVIT.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMFIELD, MASS, 20th Dec., 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, ESQ., of UTICA, N. Y., writes: "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, MISS., Feb. 7, [illegible]

BROTHER AYER: I will cheerfully certify your P[illegible] best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, [illegible] and the chest diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people. HIRAM CONKLIN [illegible]

The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, [illegible]

SIR: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. HENRY L. PARKS, [illegible]

A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ALBION, MONROE CO., IOWA, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.
